The trains from Baantjer

The famous author Appie Baantjer wrote novels about detective 'De Cock' of the Amsterdam police. In his spare time, he was often engaged with model trains, which he let ride in his garden. De Baantjerbaan is a landscape track with trains. Volunteers designed and built the track.

De Schravendeelbaan

All trains in miniature

From 'Arend' to 'Blauwe Engel' until 'HSL', in the Model Track Museum Sneek you will find them all in miniature. It all began with the Sneeker antique dealer Piet Scheltema, who brought together an enormous collection of Dutch model trains from 1977. The collection was expanded by Theo Kuipers with his own purchases. In total, we exhibit more than 2500 models. A feast of recognition!

SnitserBergbaan

The SnitserBergbaan is located in the heart of the museum. Our own volunteers built it. On these track ride seven trains, which you can control yourself. The children's favourite is the super-fast ICE, that runs its laps at top speed.

Fine model construction

An ornament for the museum is the beautiful example of model construction. Beside the train tracks dioramas are to be seen, in which master builders recreated the world in miniature.

The world in miniature

The collection of trains from around the world makes our museum unique. You can admire, for example, magnificent specimens of German, Swiss and Austrian trains. They are in the historically correct composition in the glass showcases. You can see the 'Krokodil' in the Swiss and German version.

Play with real models

Model construction is for young and old. Our museum attracts adults and children. Model trains and rails invite you to build and ride on the special game tables. Do not just watch but do! Special attention is paid to the history of the local railway in the North of the Netherlands. Our staff will gladly tell you about the Dutch Tramway Society.

Trains must ride

Nothing is more beautiful than a running model train. In the museum you can control the train schedule on different tracks by yourself.
